IN NINE MONTHS AND 30 CREDIT HOURS,
LEARN TO USE ACCOUNTING TO SOLVE PROBLEMS, PRESENT INFORMATION TO CLIENTS IN A CLEAR, COMPELLING WAY, AND
BE A LEADER IN YOUR FIRM AND IN THE FIELD.

Master a specialty.
By pursuing either Financial Reporting & Assurance or Tax Consulting, you’ll gain deep technical knowledge within your area of focus—yet your education won’t stop at hard skills. Learn the critical thinking and interpersonal savvy it takes to guide teams and clients with courses in leadership, decision making and project management.

Comprehend the big picture.
Classroom discussions and case studies will immerse you in the types of complex, multidimensional business situations you’ll face in professional practice. Be able to analyze the entire context within which business decisions are made.

Lead from the start.
Our management communication faculty will sharpen your ability to communicate and present complex and sensitive information at an executive level. Learn to build teams, give strategic advice and negotiate smarter.

By completion of the program, most students fulfill the 150-hour requirement for CPA licensure.

Check with the board of accountancy for the specific requirements of the state in which you plan to practice.
At McIntire, classes engage every student through discussions, presentations and team-based exercises—a model that best resembles the workplace you’re about to enter. Drawing on different cultural and academic backgrounds, your classmates are ambitious yet open-minded. And your professors will challenge and support you. Together with these diverse minds, you’ll learn to look at today’s complex business challenges and develop creative solutions.

BE READY TO WORK ANYWHERE.
As business becomes more globally connected, accountants are called to work all over the world. McIntire’s elective Global Commerce Immersion (GCI) courses pair on-campus seminars with a stint abroad during spring break or the January term. Changing locations annually, GCI courses tackle topics such as “Doing Business in Brazil” or “Consumers and Markets in India.” You’ll gain an in-depth understanding of the social, economic and cultural dynamics affecting today’s global business environment.

Courses are organized into three areas of emphasis. Together, these areas get you ready for professional practice.

DEVELOP YOUR CAREER STRATEGY.

During the fall recruiting season, you’ll find representatives of major corporations, accounting firms and financial institutions—your future employers—in the halls of McIntire. Hear from these key players in class and connect with them one-to-one during resumé critiques or mock interviews, or over coffee just to chat.

Throughout your studies, the advisors at Commerce Career Services offer individual counseling, employer-specific programs, and a variety of career speakers and panels. They’ll help you connect with recruiters and tap into UVA’s vast global alumni network.

“McIntire faculty go above and beyond to support the students’ needs. It is easy to speak with professors outside of class about coursework, career advice or life in general. They want us to succeed.”
